

British Neville Chamberlain Award

May 2017

Chief Superintendent Ged Noble of Northumbria Police

Chief Superintendent Noble has been given this award for his force's failure to properly investigate an Islamic Rape Gang allegation, for trying to stop people talking about Islamic sex crime in his area and for trying to pass the blame for Northumbria Police's failures onto others.

British Neville Chamberlain Awards are given by the contributors and readers of the Fahrenheit211 politics and culture blog to the public servants, elected representatives and others, who most egregiously pander to the ideology of Islam and its followers to the detriment of almost everyone else.